State v. Jackson

No. 20090341

Per Curiam.

[¶1] Grady Jackson appeals from a criminal judgment after the trial court found him guilty of his fourth driving under suspension violation in five years. On appeal, Jackson raises numerous arguments, including that the trial court abused its discretion by denying his motion to suppress evidence; the State failed to show harm or prejudice if the trial had been delayed for an exclusive suppression hearing; the stop was discriminatory; and the trial court did not adjudicate in a fair and independent manner. We affirm under N.D.R.App.P. 35.1(a)(2) and (3).
